BILL SUMMARY

Synopsis:

The House Education Committee amendments to House Bill 163 removes the definition for “personally identifiable information”, which was defined in the original bill narrowly as a social security number. The bill, as amended, now more clearly specifies that social security numbers shall not be used as common student identifiers or educator identifiers in the Educational Data System under Section 22-1-11.

FISCAL IMPLICATIONS

N/A

SIGNIFICANT ISSUES

The amendment would appear to eliminate the possibility of any confusion over the meaning of the term “personally identifiable information” as it appears in Section 22-1-11.
